

Weekly Prayer Diary – 14th January 2022

Praying for Others and Situations around the World

Whilst we probably have much to pray for in our own lives and the lives of our family and friends, it is important that we pray for others and situations around the world. We can't pray for everything but it is good to pray, and in some situations support through giving or involvement. Despite there being so much that there is negative there is also lots to give thanks for as well.

Today we pray for success in nuclear talks with Iran, as attempts to revive the 2015 deal resumed last week. God, we pray for a world without nuclear weapons. Help the negotiators to find positive solutions before the deal becomes meaningless.

Please pray for our Health, Care and Emergency services who continue to face unprecedented pressures especially with staff having to self-isolate. Pray for sufficient good quality PPE and wisdom for those making decisions about staffing levels and admissions. Continue to pray for those advising the UK and Scottish governments and for those making decisions on guidelines, regulations and isolation periods.

What's the best news you've ever heard?

Give thanks for the new Hope Explored Course

Please pray for:

- the team running the course
- all the tech to run smoothly
- a sensitive and honest communication of the Gospel during discussion
- the course to be delivered in such a way that people will be in a position where they can consider their own personal relationship with God.
- that God can use the whole course for His glory.

Tearfund is asking us to join in prayer to support all that the local church is doing around the world to help people lift themselves out of poverty and flourish.

Churches continue to be a light to their communities throughout the coronavirus pandemic. Tearfund partners with churches across the world to equip them to share reliable and accurate information about the virus, so communities can make informed decisions. They have also been delivering food parcels and giving pastoral care to people during lockdowns and during the other challenges of the pandemic.

Praise God for the witness of the local church. Pray for rest and restoration for church leaders and thank God for the vital work they do.
